

ARTHRITIS SPECIALISTS LIST

As a public service, the Arthritis Foundation, Georgia Chapter is pleased to make this list available to aid persons who wish to seek the assistance of a doctor specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of arthritis.

The physicians included in the list have advised us that they are licensed physicians under state law and satisfy the criteria listed below, which we have established as a requirement for inclusion on this list.

We are not able to evaluate the professional qualifications and competence of individual physicians included on this list. Inclusion of a particular physician on this list should not be interpreted as a representation by the Arthritis Foundation (Georgia Chapter) concerning that physician's competence or qualifications.

This list includes specialists in Arthritis, called Rheumatologists. Rheumatologists are doctors who specialize in the diagnosis and treatment of arthritis and related disorders of joint, muscles and bones. Physician's in this specialty are "board – certified" (have passed the exam) in such areas as internal medicine, and then completed additional accredited training in the diagnosis and treatment of arthritis. Some physicians may also have passed another specialty exam in Rheumatology and are board-certified in rheumatology.

Many other types of physicians can diagnose and treat arthritis. These include physicians who are certified by the designated boards in family practice, internal medicine and rehabilitation (physiatrist), pediatric and orthopedic surgery (for arthritis surgery). Physicians who are board- certified have also passed a special exam in their specialty.

Physicians included on this list have attested that they meet at least one of the following criteria:

1. Board-certified in Rheumatology

Board-certified specialists in rheumatology have successfully completed an accredited training program for rheumatology and have passed a special exam.

2. Completed an accredited training program in rheumatology.

Physician's who have completed training programs in rheumatology and are accredited by certain professional groups.

3. Completed training before certification

Some physicians completed training in rheumatology before certification was available. Physicians in this category have at least five years experience in rheumatology

For full criteria on a specific physician, please contact his/her office directly.
